

Arrays of donors in silicon for quantum technologies

Marco FANCIULLI - University of Milano Bicocca

Disordered and ordered donor arrays in silicon and silicon-on-insulator (SOI) provide a suitable system for quantum storage. Although studied for many years, new properties, relevant for quantum technologies, have been revealed experimentally and addressed theoretically.