

High critical temperature superconductivity: an old story with a new twist

Francesco TAFURI - University of Naples "Federico II"

With the twist, we experimentally introduce a new-axis in the old phase diagram of the superconducting cuprates, opening up new possibilities to explore novel effects and new avenues for quantum control and detection.