

Management of international procedures of protection (and breaking news)

Maria Vittoria PRIMICERI - PRAXI Intellectual Property

The Invention becomes a Patent through an administrative procedure. In fact, the Patent is a technical-legal document, granted by the State, which gives its owner the right to exploit what is described in the patent itself on an exclusive basis, a temporally and territorially limited exclusive right. The various national, international, and supranational/regional procedures to obtain protection of the invention in the countries of interest will be exposed. Mention will also be made of the new Unitary Patent and news of the latest legislative innovations at the Italian level will be given.