Sebastiano ANSELMO – CV

With an MSc in Urban and Territorial Planning and a high-level Diploma for graduate studies at the prestigious Alta Scuola Politecnica multidisciplinary program, Sebastiano Anselmo is a renowned expert in applying advanced Geographic Information Systems (GIS) to the energy sector. Pursuing a PhD in the field of urban planning with gained experience of work with City municipalities and consultancy companies, he actually serves as a technical consultant at the startup company Knowledge Innovation Data srl, where he leads activities to support energy service companies in their green and digital transitions. His work focuses on integrating energy data within urban digital twins and developing vertical solutions for the design and management of Renewable Energy Communities.