

Giovanni Battista APPETECCHI - CV

Giovanni Battista Appetecchi has been working for more than 30 years on basic and applied research focused on the development of materials/systems for electrochemical energy storage systems. He is author/co-author of 188 publications in “peer reviewed” international scientific journals (H-Index = 62, 13,477 citations), 7 book chapters, 204 communications/lectures at scientific meetings and 4 patents. He was/is scientific responsible for ENEA of National and European research projects. He is Editor of Membranes and Advisor Editor of Energy Materials.