Marco DONNINI_CV

MSc Marco Donnini is a PhD candidate in Industrial Engineering at the Tor Vergata University of Rome. He graduated with honors in Mechanical Engineering from the same university, where he specialized in energy systems and renewable sources. His research interests include the integration of sustainable mobility solutions, such as electric vehicles, with smart grids and buildings, using machine learning and artificial intelligence tools.