

Teresa Ferrillo – CV

Teresa Ferrillo is a PhD student in “RNA Therapeutics and Gene Therapy” at the Department of Pharmacy of University of Naples Federico II at the end of the first year of activity.

After her graduation in Pharmaceutical Chemistry and Technology with a thesis on the development of microemulsion for the skin delivery of modified hyaluronic acids, she started to work in the field of Gene Therapy focusing her research activities on the development of Lipid Nanoparticles for precision targeting of therapeutics RNAs.