

Daniele RICCIONI-CV

He is Head of Technology Transfer Office part of Third Mission and Technology Transfer Area at Sapienza University of Rome. He is in charge of dealing with companies, generating social and economic value out of research results and supporting researchers who are in the process of creating Start up and spin off.

The Technology transfer actions carried out by the office aim to consolidate partnerships with companies and the social environment in general, promote innovation and entrepreneurship, especially in the high tech field, and favour research funding.