

Gargi Shankar Nayak- CV

Gargi Shankar Nayak is a Postdoctoral Researcher at the Saarland University. He received his Bachelor of Technology in Metallurgical Engineering from the National Institute of Technology Raipur, his MSc in Metallurgical Engineering from RWTH Aachen University, and a Ph.D. in Metallurgical Engineering from Technische Universität Clausthal. His main research areas include modelling of the bone healing process, development of biodegradable implants for bone healing, and experimental studies in the field of biomechanics.